

Five burned in well fire

By Carol Dietrich
Five Drayton Valley area men are in critical but stable condition in Edmonton's University Hospital following a fire Feb. 4 at a Texaco well site about five miles (eight kilometres) north and two miles (three kilometres) east of Cynthia.

Danny Spuehler, Charlie Lingard, Darcy Fuls, Duncan Macintosh and Craig Marshall were burned when fire broke out 10:30 a.m. as they were bleeding off the hydrocarbons in a line, said Maureen Bradbury, Texaco government and public relations co-ordinator.

"They were following routine procedures."

For reasons still being investigated, the crew's doghouse (trailer) and service rig tank caught fire.

"All the men (employed with Cronkite Well Servicing) were on the well site, but we don't know precisely where," she added.

"And we're investigating to find out where the fire actually broke out."

The Drayton Valley fire department received the fire call at 10:55 a.m., said fire chief Sheldon Fuson.

Texaco personnel and Firemaster assisted the fire department in extinguishing the fire.

"We had everything under control shortly after we arrived," he said, "But it took time to apply the foam."

Makin project delayed further

By Phil Courterelle

While the federal government has thrown its support behind Makin Pulp and Paper Ltd., the province has ordered further evaluations of the company's multi-million dollar project — a time constraint that puts the proposal in jeopardy.

External Affairs Minister Joe Clark told a luncheon meeting here Friday the federal government wants to be as "helpful" as it can in securing the mill's success.

The Yellowhead MP said he received a "careful but a helpful letter" from the minister of forestry supporting the project in Drayton Valley and wanted to publicly express his desire to make it a reality here.

"(We're) not promising blanket subsidies, we may not be promising subsidies of any kind, that's understood," Clark told the audience gathered at the Drayton Valley Hotel. "But if federal programs that apply (and if) that project fits national development policies, we'll do what we can to help see it work."

The announcement was greeted warmly by Makin's Stewart Behie who attended the meeting, but overshadowed by the province's new evaluation.

The financial study, announced last week and expected to last until Feb. 27, forces Makin officials to "buy time" with principal investors, the company's vice-president said.

"We're still planning for Drayton Valley, but we're losing time," Behie said adding the Calgary-based company has some alternatives to locating here but would not disclose what those alternatives are.

Makin officials had expected a decision by Jan. 31 on the proposed $115 million pulp and paper mill.

Leduc County schools resume classes

By Gail Peon

Students and teachers in Leduc County headed back to their classrooms Monday after negotiations for teachers and the board of education reached a memorandum of agreement Saturday.

The school board had earlier rejected the three-year agreement Sunday which calls for a 25 per cent increase from Jan. 1, 1984; 2.75 per cent increase from Jan. 1, 1985; and 3.5 per cent from

Pool ready to open soon

One of Drayton Valley's original residents will perform the ribbon cutting at the official opening of the Park Valley indoor swimming pool this Saturday.

John MacKenzie Sr., who has donated land to the town including the site in Rotary Park where the pool is located, is scheduled to handle the ribbon cutting.

He will be joined by an impressive lineup that will include the Hon. Peter Trynchy, Minister of Recreation and Parks; Drayton Valley Mayor Bob Mayhew and MLA Shirley Cripps.

The official opening ceremony is slated for 2 p.m. followed by public tours of the new sports facility between 4:30 and 6:30 p.m.

The new indoor pool will be open for business this Sunday with leisure swimming from 2-5 p.m. and family swimming 5-7 p.m.

Drayton Valley recreation director Dennis Woosley says the pool, which will get a good test this weekend, is virtually completed.

Jan. 1, 1986 but reversed its decision later in the day after it realized teachers had accepted the offer.

A deferred salary leave plan would also be put into policy.

The board came to the full realization the teachers had approved the agreement. The answer was in their hands — there was a lot of soul searching going on, school board chairman Albert Klapstein said Monday, attempting to explain the board's reason for reversing its position.

He contended trustees gave consideration to possible consequences if the strike were to continue, noting, "There would be a loss of pay to our teachers and a loss of school for our children."

"We decided it would be in the best interest of our school system if we settled now rather than going further into the process," said Klapstein, pointing to the escalating costs of arbitration.

Nine trustees voted to accept the agreement at the Sunday evening meeting, while four opposed the move. The recorded vote from the afternoon was 8-5 to reject.

According to ATA negotiator Bill Anderson, 81 per cent of his membership elected to approve the terms of the contract.

"They were as pleased as could be after two weeks of strike," he suggested. "I think in fairness, they recognized the need to get back to work and open schools — it's what the parents were asking." "They weren't all that thrilled considering the situation, but both sides compromised," added Anderson. "That's what an agreement is — both sides compromising."

The Leduc county teachers are still behind the rest of the province in terms of end rates for 1984 and 1985, he maintained.

Mill negotiations "frustrating" — Cripps

The Makin Pulp and Paper Ltd. negotiations have been a "frustrating" affair, Drayton Valley M.L.A. Shirley Cripps said Monday.

Briefing a small crowd at Lodgepole School, Cripps said the government is interested in knowing where the financial battle is coming from for the multi-million dollar proposal before signing any guarantees.

Makin is looking for loan guarantees for up to $42 million, the M.L.A. explained but to date, company officials have refused to disclose who is backing the Drayton Valley proposal.

The first phase of the fine paper and pulp mill is expected to cost $115 million and provide up to 165 jobs. The total cost of the project is expected to be more than $350 million.

"They (Makin) haven't shown the government they have the finances they need to go ahead with an FMA (forest management agreement)," Cripps said.

"We have to know who the guarantee is for and who the equity is for. And that's only common sense. You wouldn't lend someone money if you didn't know who they were."

"It's frustrating," she said, adding "I know how badly the area needs the diversification."

One in several constituency meetings, Cripps told the 11 people present that a detailed financial outline has been mandatory from the beginning.

"They say they need an FMA first, but if you go back to the public hearings (more than two years ago) it was made perfectly clear they had to show they had the financing first."

Currently, the Makin proposal is undergoing a financial evaluation ordered last week by the province. The evaluation is expected to last until the end of February.

Leduc strike

"They (the teachers) weren't pleased with the need for a three-year contract, but it was the only way an agreement could come about," said Anderson, who says the "parity is not there" with city teachers.

"They are about $350 to $400 behind Leduc City in end rates," he claims.

School board secretary-treasurer Gordon Handke explained Monday the end rate for county teachers over 1984 and 1985 is three per cent, while the city is four per cent but to match the county's three-year offer, the City of Leduc will have to provide 2.3 per cent when bargaining for 1986.

With the ratification of the contract county teachers with four years of university and no experience will earn $23,200, a teacher with 11 years experience will make $39,234, whereas the 1983 contract paid them $39,089.

According to Handke it would be difficult to determine the effect of the new contract on ratepayers at the present time.

"It depends on what the board decides to do with budget and cutbacks in other areas," he contends. "We know the revenues, but the expenditures have to be determined."

Handke notes Klapstein has suggested a $25 addition to school tax assessments with the teachers' increase in salary. But the sum does not include any deficits which may be incurred by the board.

Parents who banded together, travelling to the county council chambers Sunday night, were elated to learn the board had accepted the agreement. About an hour earlier, Reeve Norman Bittner spoke before a crowd at Willow Park school.

He outlined a week of unsuccessful talks, and faced questions from his often-angry audience. Concern continually surfaced about the board's stand against entering into voluntary binding arbitration.

Parents heard the board's negotiators signed the agreement Saturday as three out of five, or a majority, agreed to the terms. But when the contract was brought before 13 trustees it was rejected, according to Bittner.

After the afternoon meeting, Klapstein said he planned to resign from the negotiating committee. As the school board chairman, Klapstein sat with the negotiating team when Bittner and another board negotiator were unable to attend meetings because of a prior commitment.

"I felt I had done all I could to represent the board in negotiating — if the dispute continued, someone else would have to pursue it," Klapstein said. "I would continue to be involved in it, but I would not participate."

Makin

Describing the new evaluation as "ludicrous" at this stage of the proposal, Behie said all Makin's investors are requesting is a letter of support for the project.

"We're only asking for some kind of strong support," he said.

"We'll have to take the letters we do have to the investors and try and buy time in order for the government to get through its evaluation."

The province, he said, doesn't see the importance of writing a letter of support and its influence on investors.

The mill is expected to employ some 400 people directly in its operations and harvesting procedures.

Charity auction offers variety

Several "rare" items will be on the auction block at the Drayton Valley Association for the Developmentally Handicapped charity auction Thursday, Feb. 14 at the Rec Plex.

Organizer Ron Szala says he has confirmation of six rare RCMP bell buckles and two hats from the RCMP Musical Ride. The buckles are not available on the public market. There's also a chance of obtaining a saddle blanket from the musical ride.

Szala also says merchandise, both new and used, will be accepted up to 4 o'clock on Feb. 14. To arrange pickup, call Szala at 542-3113.

Drayton Valley town council, victims of a pie-throwing contest at last year's auction, haven't disclosed what their contribution will be on Valentine's Day.

Three major items on the auction block will be a trip to Vegas, tickets to Stage West (dinner and theatre) and a local champagne flight.

Proceeds from this year's auction will go toward a park behind the Beehive bottle depot. Cost of this project is between $4,000 and $5,000. Last year's auction generated $7,972.

The auction begins at 7 p.m. at the Rec Plex. Wendy Sekura family and associates will handle the auctioneering.

Winter carnival queen contest

Four vying for March title

Four young ladies are vying for the Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce carnival queen title. They are Cheryl Lamoureux, Gillian MacLellan, Ann Baker and Kelly Bergquist.

The winner will be announced on Saturday, March 9, during the evening performance of the ice show.

The four girls will start selling 2,000 tickets each around the middle of February and their success in this area will account for 50 per cent of their grade. The remaining marks will come from a talent and speech presentation the girls will make at a fashion show and supper on the opening night of the three-day carnival, Friday, March 8.

Lamoureux, 14, a Grade 9 student at Tomahawk, admits being a bit nervous heading into competition. The St. Albert native, who moved to Tomahawk in September, enjoys drawing, reading and horseback riding. She also takes fitness as an option in school and belongs to a judo club.

MacLellan, 15, and a Grade 10 student at Frank Maddock High School in Drayton Valley, is looking forward to the competition. The former Westlock resident who came to Drayton Valley in 1970 enjoys most sports. Her favorite is volleyball. Her talent presentation will be singing — relying on the choral experience gained in school. When MacLellan isn't busy with school and sports, she works part-time at Ben Dejonge Meat and Delicatessen.

Baker, 14, is very active in figure skating. The Grade 9 student at St. Anthony School in Drayton Valley has been figure skating for 10 years and is in her second season as a coach with the club. Besides competing in the carnival queen contest, the Drayton Valley native will skate in the ice show. Her other interests include badminton, swimming and reading.

Bergquist, 14, is another very busy young lady. The Grade 9 student at H.W. Pickup Junior High School in Drayton Valley enjoys jazz, aerobics, badminton and teaching pre-school gymnastics. She also finds time for skiing, snowmobiling and swimming and is excited about the new Park Valley indoor pool which officially opens this weekend.

Spring on the way

As the sun sets in the western skies it casts a warm glow over the countryside. Every day we have the pleasure of having more and more daylight. That is a warm note.

Median monster

The block-long median on 51st street in downtown Drayton Valley came up for considerable discussion at town council last week.

Most of their comments centered around the $4,000 to $5,000 the town is expected to dish out every two years for maintenance.

It was obvious from remarks made by most councillors that if a bulldozer just happened to get side-tracked on 51st street, the median wouldn't be missed.

Unfortunately council says their hands are tied. The median was a $63,000 gift from the Devonian Foundation some seven years ago.

While town council are concerned about spending money on the median, or flower box, for the sake of a more accurate description, their concerns didn't go far enough.

The flower box is a hazard.

Vehicles travelling up or down 51st street are just asking for a sure fender bender if someone backs out from the curb without looking. There's simply no where to go.

Because of the hazardous situations created by this monster, it's surprising the merchants along 51st street haven't been burning up the lines to Mayor Mayhew's office.

Business may also be affected. Instead of risking an accident, customers may be doing their shopping elsewhere in Drayton Valley.

We're not suggesting for one minute that we take a bulldozer to the monster. Maybe it could be moved to a park and used as a flower box. Failing that, maybe it could be used at Lions Park for a horse trough at fair time.

Safeway say 'no' to store in Drayton Valley

We are continuing to make changes in The Western Review ... changes we hope, our readers will be happy with.

Last week we introduced WHAT'S DOING, a day-by-day schedule of events.

It has always been a concern of mine that people didn't know what was happening in town. It is our hope, through this feature, that local and visitors alike will turn to this feature, to see what's happening.

If your group is planning an event, make sure to let me know in advance, so it can be included in WHAT'S DOING. Teams should send us their schedules.

The Lodgepole General Store is now carrying The Western Review. It's available Wednesday mornings for all our followers in the Lodgepole area.

Editor's Notes

Shelly Carson is our new Breton correspondent. Call your news into Shelly at 696-2290 or send it to her at Box 366.

We're still looking for correspondents in Violet Grove, Evansburg, Carnwood, Berymoor and Lindale. If you're interested, call me at 542-5380.

We'd also like to see some editorial contributions from groups and organizations in the aforementioned areas.

There was a rumor circulating that Canada Safeway were taking a long, hard look at a possible store for Drayton Valley, but according to their Calgary office, it's not in their immediate plans.

A bouquet to Jim and Wilma Enyedy of Drayton Valley, for their behind-the-scenes volunteer work with the Blades junior 'B' hockey team. Jim is often seen in the penalty box handling the announcing and scorekeeping chores while his wife is busy with gate and program receipts. Here's two people giving up their weekend time, and they don't have kids on the Blades.

The last time we looked, a miniature Santa Claus was watching over Drayton Valley atop the water tower.

Cathy Marshall new in town

New powerhouse coordinator

There's a new face at the helm of the Powerhouse Further Education Council. Her name is Cathy Marshall and she is the council's new coordinator.

She will replace Joan Duckett, who held the position for three years.

Marshall, originally from Eastern Canada, has lived in Alberta for five years, most recently in Edmonton.

The recent Drayton Valley resident has a background in banking and is looking forward to her new job.

I think it will be interesting and challenging work, she said.

January 28 was her first day on the job and she is just starting to feel comfortable. No major changes are in her immediate plans, she added.

"It's obvious things have been going well the way Joan was doing them."

"But," she said, "I would like to get community organizations more involved with the further education council."

Course suggestions from people in the community are always welcome, Marshall said.

"We keep interest lists all the time."

"And we only need eight registrations for a course to go ahead."

Since the council's inception in 1978, the number of courses offered has grown substantially. Beginning with 19 courses and an enrolment of 271, it reached an all time high of 100 courses and 1,378 enrolments in 1982.

Last year 886 people took part in 81 courses, she said.

Nine new courses are going ahead for the winter. They include small engine repair, country-rock dancing and a job search workshop.

But popular courses such as basic cake decorating, handicrafts and photographs are offered each year.

"We also offer special courses like English as a second language and adult basic literacy," Marshall said.

The Powerhouse Further Education Council is one of 85 such councils in the province, offering non-credit courses.

Everyone equal in regards to publicity

Dear Editor,

In response to Martin Urchysyn's letter to the editor, Jan. 23, 1985:

I find it hard to believe that anyone should be exempt from the publicity of having broken the law because they contributed to the community.

Everyone, rich or poor, famous or infamous, should be treated equally in regards to bad publicity.

Keep up the good work Western Review, maybe your reporting of these incidents will help others think twice before breaking the law.

Abortion a barbaric form of war

Dear Editor,

Submitting to abortion is another miniature, barbaric form of war against the defenceless, innocent fetus.

So therefore, this creates opportunity for Dr. Henry Morgentaler and the likes of him, to get hired for mercenary services in killing fetuses.

What a diabolical way of making a living. The person would have to be a very calloused sadist to perform such brutal services. For such atrocity equates with the Nazis in WW2, with their gas chamber genocides.

No person is justified in killing human fetuses directly or as an accessory. For the simple reason, your mother did not destroy you when you were a fetus. Further more, profiting the gift of procreation is fiendish debauchery.

Letters

Teachers' request to form own local denied

By Carol Dietrich
Drayton Valley teachers' request to form their own local was rejected Feb. 1 by the provincial executive council of the Alberta Teachers' Association (ATA).

After one year of concentrated and optimistic efforts, the decision was unexpected, said organizer Wally Heinrichs.

"Everyone was surprised. (Perhaps) we were giving them the benefit of the doubt that they would allow teacher involvement at the grassroots level."

"They have no legal grounds to reject our request."

Heinrichs received word of the decision by phone Feb. 1 and said the teachers will receive a rationale in writing shortly.

"Nadine Thomas (ATA president) wouldn't tell us what the task force recommendation was, but I'm suspicious they were in favor of our local."

"Otherwise, I think she would not have hesitated in telling us what the recommendations were."

The decision was frustrating, Heinrichs said. "Because our county would have been the first to contain two ATA locals, the executive council was concerned with the precedent issue."

"We feel this was a top-heavy decision and serves as an example of the way the ATA isn't concerned with the grassroots."

Representatives from the five Drayton Valley schools will meet to decide what their next move will be, he said.

The teachers have several options. "We could pursue the legal route or form a sub-local."

"As a sub-local we would have some autonomy, but would still be answerable to the local."

The possibility of forming a sub-local was discussed amongst Drayton Valley teachers before. "We didn't see any advantage to forming one."

"But now if all else fails, we could form one. They are common and in place all over the province."

Though teachers from the five local schools see formation of a new local as the solution, the ATA believes a separate local would create more problems than it would solve, said Bernie Keeler, ATA executive secretary.

"If two locals were set up, an inter-local liaison body would have to be set up."

"There is a drop in efficiency whenever you add another level," Keeler said.

But even though the teachers' request was rejected, Keeler said the ATA still recognizes the problems for teachers in Drayton Valley.

This is not a closed issue. We are still working on the possibilities, looking for ways to work things out."

He said the ATA was not overly concerned with the precedent the Drayton Valley local would set. "The precedent was certainly not the determining factor in this issue."

"We were concerned with what the situation would be in Drayton Valley."

Keeler would not comment on the five-man task force's recommendations.

Man sentenced to additional 6 months

A 25-year-old man was sentenced to an additional six months of penitentiary time Jan. 31 in Drayton Valley provincial court.

William Robert Jamieson of no fixed address, who is presently serving an 18-month penitentiary term, pleaded guilty to fraud affecting the public market.

Crown prosecutor Dave Marriott told the court on Oct. 28-29, 1983 the accused borrowed a friend's car.

Inside the car's glove compartment were the friend's bank books and identification, Marriott said.

Court heard that Jamieson deposited a cheque for $3300, drawn on a Red Deer company and made payable to the friend, at the Story Plain and District Savings and Credit Union Ltd. in Drayton Valley.

It was subsequently found out that the friend's account was closed, Marriott said.

The accused returned the next day to the bank to withdraw $3000 but it was already known that the cheque was a fraud and that Jamieson had forged his friend's signature, he said.

Court also heard that after an RCMP investigation, Jamieson was located and confessed to defrauding the bank.

Church traffic fills up available parking around new swimming pool.

Opinions differ on parking

Drayton Valley recreation director Dennis Woosley isn't anticipating any parking problems with the opening of the new Park Valley indoor swimming pool this weekend.

Woosley's opinion isn't shared by Alex Salfi, who was chairman of the new swimming pool feasibility committee.

Because of parking, it was the recommendation of Salfi's group that the new pool be attached to the Drayton Valley arena. However, that recommendation was overturned by another council committee.

"Parking is going to be a problem at the new site," Salfi says.

He went on to say, "We had a problem with parking at the old outdoor pool. We tried speed bumps and had the RCMP step up patrols in that area."

Defending the pool parking, Woosley told The Western Review, "The parking is adequate. There's 97 stalls. The area will be signed."

When questioned about parking, especially on Sunday, what may be used for the pool but will be taken up by church goers, Woosley said, "The pool won't be opening on Sunday until after lunch and by then church will be out."

Woosley also stated he felt the parking situation at the arena/curling rink site where the committee had recommended for the pool would be worse than at Rotary Park.

Council not backing down over parking

The Town of Drayton Valley plans to step up their parking patrols.

Some members of council were angered last week to learn that their bylaw enforcement officer was only tagging vehicles for illegal parking one day a week, instead of the original three.

Apparently, a decision was made following a number of complaints on the number of tickets handed out in December.

But it's back to the three-day per week patrols.

Commenting on the switch in patrols, Mayor Bob Mayhew said, "I have a problem ... everytime someone comes along and complains, we back down. Either we have a bylaw or we throw it out."

Councillor Howard Olsen added, "Two-hour parking downtown has been posted. Council made a decision to tag vehicles three days a week. We can't follow the whims of the taxpayer."

Town manager Manny Deol told council last week that he met with merchants Jan. 23 and there were very few complaints about the parking and ticket method.

However, one thing that did come out of that meeting was a request from the downtown merchants for more parking signs. These signs will be considered at budget time.

Fire causes $2,000 in damage

A fire Jan. 31 caused $2,000 damage to L & E Oilfield Service Ltd. in Drayton Valley.

At about 4 p.m., the fire department was called to the business' premises at 4905-56 St.

"Some cutting and welding was being done on a vessel for precipitator — about seven ft. in diameter and about 10 ft. long," said fire chief Sheldon Fuson.

"Remodifications were being done when oil wax and crude inside the vessel caught fire.

"The vessel was inside the building and it got hot enough that the workers couldn't put it out with fire extinguishers."

No one was injured in the incident.

Kelly handles Blades coaching

Eight point night for Stables

With Simon Kelly handling the coaching reins the Drayton Valley Blades earned a split in two Central Alberta Junior 'B' Hockey League weekend games.

Kelly, a trainer with the Blades for the past three winters, inherited the coaching job from Les Sinclair, and led his charges to a 12-3 romp over visiting Rimbey West Stars last Friday night. On Sunday afternoon at Barrhead, the Blades dropped a 6-3 decision to the Elks.

The Blades are now 8-23 in the season with nine league games remaining.

Paul Stables, in his third year with the Blades, led the romp against the West Stars with three goals and five assists. Sheldon Dunham added three goals and Dean Muigrew had two. Singles came off the sticks of Darren Tuftin, Doug Bacon, Mike Benoit and Bill Adler. Hutchinson and Tuftin also had three assists.

Dean Pirie, Trent Pankewicz and Paul Washkevich replied for the West Stars.

The Blades led 2-1 after the opening period and increased that to 7-1 after 40 minutes.

Adler, Ceh and Dunham scored in the Blades' 6-3 loss to Barrhead.

The Blades also played well at Barrhead as they led 2-1 after the opening period and were tied 3-3 after the middle stanza. The Elks took a 4-3 lead midway through the third period. Then, on a delayed penalty call against the Blades, the Elks scored to make it 5-3. On top of that, the referee also gave the Blades a penalty, despite the goal. Playing short-handed, the Elks added their sixth goal.

Kelly was very upset with the referee's call that put one of his players in the penalty box, after the Elks had scored on the delayed penalty call.

"Calls like that make it very frustrating for the guys," the rookie coach commented.

Other than that one play with about seven minutes left in the game, Kelly was pleased with the effort of his players.

The next action for the Blades in this Friday when they host Barrhead in an 8:30 game at the arena. On Sunday the Blades travel to Hinton.

Hoshowski rink misses berth

Drayton Valley's Joe Hoshowski foursome chalked up a 4-3 win-loss record at the weekend Northern Alberta senior curling playdowns at the Jasper Place rink.

But it wasn't good enough to earn one of the three berths in the provincials.

Hoshowski, Zoltan Liba, Fred Snell and Bert Trueman opened with a 10-4 win against St. Albert and lost a squeaker, 9-5 to Stetler. The game was decided on the last shot of the game.

The Drayton Valley foursome also gained a split in their games last Friday as they defeated a rink from the Shamrock Club in Edmonton and lost to Jasper Place, leaving them with a 2-2 record.

They stayed in contention with wins over Lougheed and Eckville Sunday, but were eliminated Sunday when they lost to Stetler again, this time in the 'C' semi-finals.

Wildwood, Whitecourt win

Eight girls' and eight boys' teams came together Feb. 2 to compete in the fourth annual Grand Trunk Invitational Jr. High Basketball Tournament in Evansburg.

Players from Edson, Whitecourt, Grande Cache, Wildwood, Hinton and Mayerthorpe joined local Evansburg competitors in the all-day event.

In the final game in the 'A' event on the boys' side, it was the Wildwood Wasps and the Whitecourt Chargers. After the final whistle, Wildwood emerged the victors with a 35-21 decision.

The Vanier team from Edson edged out the Grande Cache team 36-34 in the consolation final.

On the girls' side, once again the Whitecourt Chargers and Wildwood Wasps faced off in the 'A' event final.

But this time, the Whitecourt team won in a close 26-23 match.

In the consolation final, the Grand Trunk Teddies and the team from Mayerthorpe played a rather lopsided 38-18 match, with the home team winning.

"This year we had four strong teams and four weaker teams," said tournament organizer Bill Semenyne.

The squads from Whitecourt, Wildwood, Hinton and Edson (Vanier) were good, he added.

"But overall the level of competition was quite good."

After four years the tournament has become well known, Semenyne said. "We sent out invitations and had to turn several teams away when we got the eight teams we needed."

Despite the fact that the tournament was a success, the play of the home teams was a little disappointing, he added.

The Vanier boys' team won the consolation final.

The boys' team lost by three points in the semi-final. "They felt they should have been in the final."

"I guess the other team wanted to be in the final more."

The girls lost their first match, but won their next two. "They lost by quite a margin in the first game, but they did well."

"They weren't expected to do well and their win in the consolation final was a pleasant surprise," he added.

Simon Kelly had to be the happiest guy in Drayton Valley last Friday night.

Kelly, well known in these parts for his behind-the-scenes work in soccer, suddenly inherited the Blades junior 'B' coaching job from Les Sinclair, who was busy.

The Blades' third year trainer made the best of his coaching debut, leading his short-staffed charges to a 12-3 romp over visiting Rimbey West Stars.

Kelly also handled the team Sunday afternoon when they lost 6-3 to the Barrhead Elks.

"We totally out-played them," was Kelly's first remark coming off the ice Friday.

After he fully realized what had taken place, Kelly added, "We shut them down. I switched the lines and introduced a couple of breakouts. The kids played a heck of a game for me."

While no one is saying exactly why Simon Kelly took over the Blades' coaching reins on the weekend from Les Sinclair, who was 2-6 since taking over from Lorne Poulin, one suspects that Kelly may handle the club for their remaining nine league games. And, if he does a respectable job, Kelly could find himself with a hockey coaching job next winter.

The Blades' 12-3 romp over Rimbey was a total team effort. But there were some players who came in for some extra praise. Like 16-year-old Paul Stables for his three goals and five helpers. Fifteen-year-old Doug Bacon and 17-year-old Kevin Hutchinson were interviewed by a Fort

by Frank Ryan

Saskatchewan scout Friday and a Saskatoon Blades' scout Sunday.

One player who didn't collect many points but may have played his finest game as a Blade, was defenceman Trevor Ceh.

The league's penalty leader with more than 300 minutes in 20 games, was outstanding against the West Stars.

Instead of challenging the opposition, Ceh kept his cool. In fact, Rimbey drew three penalties as they rammed into the Blades' rearguard. The locals scored two power play goals midway through the third on those chances, to put the game away.

In two weekend games Ceh spent only six minutes in the sin bin and collected three assists.

It's a big weekend for swimmers in the area. The new Park Valley indoor swimming pool officially opens Saturday at 2 p.m. followed by public tours at 4:30 p.m. The first day of public swimming is Sunday.

Rumors are circulating that some of the locals attending the official opening may end up in the pool fully clothed. If you're in that official's party, don't get too close to the edge.

Fish derby at Wildwood

Wildwood Lions Club will hold its annual fish derby on Chip Lake on Sunday, Feb. 10, 1985.

Entries are $3 per person and are available in advance at Wildwood Confectionery or on Derby Day on the lake from Lions Club members or at the shelter at Chip Lake Park.

Weigh-in will be at the Chip Lake Park shelter from 2 to 5:30 p.m. Hamburgers and coffee will be available from noon to 6 p.m. Winners in the largest fish and hidden weight categories for senior (16 and over) and junior (under 16) will receive plaques. In case of ties for hidden weight, the winner will be chosen by random draw.

There is also a plaque for hidden weight for Lions Club members only.

Trophies were sponsored by Wildwood Confectionery, Mitch's Home Hardware, Loche Mist Farms, Mander Confectionery and Lauridsen Cat Service.

Curling ice his speciality

You're in the final end and down by just one point. You leave the hack cleanly, smoothly, the last rock aimed and curled just where you want it.

You release and the rock glides down the surface. You smile as it approaches mid-ice, thinking you've made the winning shot, when the rock starts to veer left — only slightly, but enough.

Down, down, down the ice it glides and slowly the smile turns to a frown — the slight lean to left has put the shot only inches off course and that one point separating winners and losers might as well be a thousand points.

You leave the ice disappointed and (slightly) angry, muttering, "Stupid ice, it's slanted, no way my shot was off. Blast the icemaker."

In hockey it's the referee; in bowling it's the alley, in curling, it's the icemaker who gets blamed when things don't go the players' way.

But such is the burden one carries when they're in charge of the game's most important feature — even if it is taken for granted.

Jerry Merwin has been handling the ice at the Drayton Valley Curling Club for the past seven seasons and has learned to live with the post game "expertise".

Regardless, Merwin says he enjoys keeping the ice and "meeting a lot of people."

Merwin works about 40 hours a week — a large portion on weekends during bonspiels — maintaining the club's five sheets.

Essentially, the ice is made like artificial ice in the arena except it's kept eight degrees warmer so it's more soft than ice used for hockey or figure skating.

"If you put on a pair of skates and went up and down the ice three times, there wouldn't be much left," Merwin says.

Another difference is curling ice is "pebbled" rather than smooth. Water is sprayed onto the surface and forms small pebble-like bumps which help rocks float on surface.

Jerry Merwin prepares ice for curling.

Also like the arena, curling ice is scraped and flooded to help clean the ice and maintain as even a surface as possible. Different areas in the curling rink — along the sides for example — require more flooding than those towards the centre because of a slight slant, Merwin explained.

Citrus delayed

A Florida cold snap has delayed a group of local scouts' plans to sell citrus fruit to raise funds for the Canadian Jamboree this summer.

According to organizers from the 1st Drayton Valley Scout Troop, the poor weather has hampered harvesting efforts in the American state and they've had to find a new crop for the sale.

As a result, orders for the oranges and grapefruit commenced Feb. 1 instead of Jan. 21 and will be extended until Feb. 11.

Prices are also affected with smaller orders now costing $16 and larger orders $26.

Local scouts and guides will also hold a sports banquet this March to raise funds for building a camp near Carnwood.

Barker earns high single

Laura Barker had a productive week at the Twilight Bowl in Drayton Valley.

She won bowler-of-the-week honors in the ladies' league with a 309 single and finished with a 218 average. Add to that a 210 average in the evening leagues.

Elaine Kobernick with a 282 single and Art Brinkhaus with a 303 were bowlers-of-the-week in the evening leagues. Duane Benson topped the men with a high average of 204.

In the Golden Age League, Agnes Regenwetter was 123 over average followed by Adolt Wasser plus 76, Katie Chomoik plus 56 and Henry Nickolson plus 47.

Rick Hutchison was 98 points over his average in the Youth Bowling League followed by Shelly Urchysyna at plus 76, Trevor Tabis plus 62, Jody McKenzie plus 59, Chris Musson plus 47 and Shannon Ross plus 39.

Yellowhead council to identify growth area

By Cameron Smith

"The purpose of the Yellowhead Economic Council is to identify and prioritize business opportunities," Yellowhead MP Joe Clark told the council last week.

Terry Slemko, council chairman, greeted Clark to the first meeting by saying they were "floundering" with the definition and purpose of the council.

Clark spoke to the council in Onoway for 45 minutes before being rushed to another appointment as part of a hectic four-day tour of the constituency.

"What I want from the council is really very simple," Clark said. "I want you to identify where there are real growth potentials."

"One of the things our government has made clear is that we're going to review a number of expendable plans with any eye to reducing expenditures," he explained.

"Secondly, we want to reinstate in the country a system of local initiative. We have an expensive system of grants set up and we want to wean ourselves away from that."

Clark said the federal government would be introducing an "entrepreneurial" budget and reducing the number of grant programs.

"I would like to see government grants play a declining role rather than an increasing one," he said.

He summarized the purpose of the council by saying, "If the next 62 jobs are to come from other than a Canada Works Project, where are they to come from?"

The MP suggested tourism as one area the council could investigate.

"The most (government) progress is in tourism," he said. "The national government is ready to move there."

He said the reinstatement of Via Rail passenger service from Edmonton to Vancouver is a "starting point" for looking at tourism.

"We have to prove that we were right to ask for reinstatement," he said. "Why don't you towns on the Via line and others get together and plan how to take advantage of the possibility of all these Japanese tourists coming to Jasper; lure them to Grande Cache and to Hinton and to Edson."

There is no other body than this one that could do this."

Stony Plain mayor Reg Kotch pointed out that council representatives come from areas with different interests and requirements and that there may be a "built-in nature of competition" for funding and federal government attention.

"If it happens that all opportunities that you identify occur in the Wildwood region for example," said Clark, "I would hope that the other areas would not complain too much."

He also said that although council output should be sent to his office, much of it would be directed from the appropriate department or ministry for further action.

"Most of the action that would be taken is not likely to be taken by External Affairs so I would send it on to the minister of Resources for instance or whoever."

Citing the forest industry as another example, Clark said the council could ask the minister of Forests to come to a council meeting if it is "for a definite purpose."

Questioned about the possibility of jurisdictional dispute arising from council action overlapping provincial government responsibilities Clark said there could be problems, but he hoped there would be no real obstacles placed in the council's path.

The council was created by Clark last year and consists of representatives from around the Yellowhead riding, including Drayton Valley town councillor Claire Carefoot and town manager Manny Deol.

Two ski races are underway

Two ski races, two kilometres and 10 kilometres, over the newly developed Glory Hills ski trails are scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 16.

The course is located at the Muir Lake Community Centre, five miles north of Stony Plain.

The event is co-sponsored by the County of Parkland Parks and Recreation Department and the Parkland Nordic Ski Club in co-operation with the Spruce Grove Kinsmen winter carnival.

Races are scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. Late registrations have until 11 a.m. of race day to check in.

The entry fee is $3 per racer.

Registration forms are available from the Parkland Nordic Ski Club or the County of Parkland Parks and Recreation offices. For more information call 542-6832 in Drayton Valley or 969-2331 (extension 353) at Stony Plain.

Hutchinson a star

Chris Hutchinson scored four goals as Drayton Valley whipped Spruce Grove 13-4 Sunday in the opening game of their provincial pee wee 'B' series.

The second game in the two-game total goal series is set for Feb. 16 in Drayton Valley.

Randy Kelso, Jason Neudort and Craig Warren had two-goal performances for Drayton Valley with Kevin Dusterhoft, Kevin Kelso and Daylen Peannweller adding singles. Randy Kelso also collected four assists and Warren had a pair.

Drayton Valley led 3-2 after the opening period and increased their lead to 10-3 after two periods.

Doug Kohout is a native Newfoundlander.

Eastern visitor enjoyed experience

Travel is one of the best teachers. Going to a new place can be an educational as it is exciting. And for 16-year-old Doug Kohout of Stephenville, on the west coast of Newfoundland, coming to Alberta has been quite a learning experience.

Kohout spent one month in this province at Dalton Parker's farm near Alder Flats as part of a government-sponsored exchange program.

"I really like it here. I was at the Calgary Stampede about four years ago and wanted to come back."

Living in a town of several thousand, Kohout found farm life a contrast to what he was used to.

"People are spread so far apart here." While here Kohout went to an Oiler's hockey game, visited West Edmonton Mall and was on some tours.

The tour of some oil and gas facilities seemed to be his favorite. "In Newfoundland all we have is off-shore drilling so that was quite different."

Everyone has expectations when they go to a new part of the world and the easterner was no different. "I expected more cowboys, and thought it would be breezier here."

"There are also more half-tons here than at home."

The trip to Alberta was not all fun and games for the Grade 11 student. "I had an outline of schoolwork to do from home and I was to participate in classes here as much as I could."

But even though there was work to do, Kohout was very glad to take part in the exchange program. "I would recommend it. People may be scared to do it, but what's one month-out of your life?"

"I learned to travel on my own and to meet new people."

He plans to keep in touch with his Alberta family and wants to return to the province for the 1988 Olympics.

Clark's remarks encouraging

Representatives of the Pembina Institute for Appropriate Development (PIAD) met behind 'closed doors' with Yellowhead MP and External Affairs Minister Joe Clark last Friday.

The meeting, held in Drayton Valley, was prior to Clark's noon hour luncheon, and was part of his whirlwind tour of his constituency.

The peace and environment group discussed the star wars/space weapons program, cruise missile testing and foreign policy.

PIAD founder Bob Macintosh stated following the 45-minute meeting, "It was a reasonable, productive gathering. We were able to find some areas of agreement."

Considerable time was spent discussing the government's foreign policy. Macintosh said,

"Clark's response was encouraging."

Apparently the government is planning a review of their foreign policy and a 'green paper' is to be tabled in the House this month that is to include a public hearing.

While they had a good exchange of opinions in their meeting, Macintosh was quick to point out, "things won't change over one meeting." PIAD is hoping for further meetings with the Conservative MP.

On the subject of the meeting being held behind closed doors, Macintosh said it was done that way to guarantee a "frank" discussion with Clark.

Downtown meridian costing town big bucks

If Drayton Valley town council had their way, the block-long meridian down the middle of 51 Street would be removed.

However, the meridian, which was erected seven years ago in the form of a $63,000 gift from the Devonian Foundation, will stay.

Council was told last week that it costs between $4,000 and $5,000 every two years to upgrade the meridian.

Mayor Bob Mayhew says, "I find it difficult to spend $4,000 to $5,000 every two years on that because it doesn't do anything for the residents."

Mayhew also made it clear with the remark, "That thing wouldn't have been built during my term."

Municipal secretary Bob Dykes suggested to council that the big trees be removed, due to their dangerous root span. He suggested planting shrubs.

Councillor Claire Carefoot, just one member of council who has strong feelings about getting rid of the meridian, suggested the downtown merchants pay the expense which surfaces every two years.

Olsen wants action on walks

The Town of Drayton Valley plans to dust off their sidewalk snow removal bylaw.

In the wake of numerous complaints about the condition of sidewalks in the downtown core, council learned last week that their snow removal bylaw was very old and very dusty.

One councillor who wants action is Howard Olsen.

He told council last week, "I'm upset that we have to make a bylaw to force the merchants to do something they should automatically do. The merchants should take a little pride."

But Olsen didn't stop at snow removal.

"I question how many merchants have a broom. The downtown core is littered with garbage," he continued.

Another councillor, Tom McGee, said he would talk with the merchants to see what action could be taken.

Council talked about authorizing staff to clean walks and charge the costs back to the property owners.

In the end, council hoped that the merchants would see to their walks without having to take drastic action.

RCMP building to house senior games

The Alberta Senior Games are expected to take up residence in the RCMP building when they move into new quarters later in the summer.

The Senior Games, to be held in Drayton Valley in 1986, will use the RCMP building for administration and storage purposes. The town will lease the building, once the RCMP move, sometime in August or September.

According to a letter from the provincial public works department, the town will be responsible for building maintenance, utilities, caretaker services and maintenance of the grounds.

Council ratifies new ambulance deal

At a cost of $30,000 the Town of Drayton Valley has ratified a new agreement with the Drayton Valley and District Ambulance Authority.

Introducing the agreement to council last week, Councillor Bill Paniec said, "This is the third year in a row without an increase to the operator."

Rates charged by the ambulance service will be in effect from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31 of this year and shall not exceed the following: emergency response unit base rate of $78 per trip and a distance rate of $1.50 per km; basic life support base rate of $97.50 per trip with a distance rate of $1.50 per km; advanced life support $126 per trip with a distance rate of $1.50 per km; standby charges of $63.50 per hour with maximum three hours per claim.

Guidelines for craft show

Entries in the Parkland Handicraft Show will be judged 60 per cent on craftsmanship and 40 per cent on creativity, says county Parks and Recreation.

Original designs should be clearly marked because they will be given special consideration in all categories.

Exhibits for the show will be accepted at the Golden Age Room in the Multicultural Heritage Centre March 5 and 6 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The Drayton Valley county office will accept entries from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. the same days.

Exhibits will be judged March 8. Only one entry per person will be accepted in each category. If a name appears on a display item it must be covered for judging.

Official opening ceremonies for this year's show will be held at the Horizon Stage in Spruce Grove on March 12.

The Handicraft Show will be on display in the Lene Holgerson Gallery at the Multicultural Centre in Stony Plain from March 13-17.

Randy Strochi, assistant county Parks and Recreation director, says prize money has been cut back this year and participation has been emphasized.

The show is not so much a contest as an opportunity for the department to promote "people trying new things" and for entrants to exchange information by seeing what others in the community are doing, he says.

Money for sewer

The Town of Drayton Valley plans to approach Alberta Utilities for a $350,000 grant to cover upgrading improvements to their sewer treatment plant.

The improvements are necessary before the town connects in with the Poplar Ridge system. The present system will handle 5,400 people with this figure jumping to 5,510 with the addition of Poplar Ridge. Once the phase two improvements have been made with the $350,000 grant, the plant would accommodate 6,300 people.

Two newcomers on recreation board

Old pool disposal

Once the new Park Valley swimming pool is operating, Drayton Valley town council will consider reports on the fate of the outdoor pool. Town manager Manny Deol plans to bring a report to council's Feb. 21 meeting. Mayor Bob Mayhew says the old building will likely be used for storage.

Cleaning bill

Council wants a report on a cleaning bill for $467 covering the cost of cleaning their own coveralls. Councillor Bill Panicek wanted to know if the cleaning of coveralls was part of the union agreement while Mayor Mayhew demanded to know where the idea originated, whereby the town picked up the tab.

Dog control

Councillor Tom McGee has asked for a report on the dog control situation in Drayton Valley.

Appointments

Chris Lee has been appointed to the municipal planning commission while Vivian Bredin and Jock Hutchinson are newcomers to Drayton Valley's recreation board.

No to daycare

Municipal planning informed council last week of a daycare proposal, north of the Elks. Mayor Bob Mayhew said he was against a daycare in that area, as it was on the edge of commercial development.

Joint use agreement

Councillor Tom McGee reported a joint use agreement between the town and the county was going very slow. McGee told council last week that he had dealt with three county people in the last year, and that was delaying the signing of the agreement.

Budget talks

Drayton Valley town council will meet Feb. 13 and 14 to discuss the budget. If further meetings are needed, Feb. 18 and 19 have been set aside.

Marchiel elected as new councillor

Peter Marchiel was sworn in as Stoney Plain's sixth councillor at the Jan. 28 town council meeting.

Marchiel won the byelection held last week with 337 votes, or 48 per cent of the 701 voters who turned out.

Richard McGuire was next with 206 votes, Rod Hopkins received 151 votes and Wayne Livingstone got seven votes. Livingstone withdrew from the election too late for his name to be taken off the ballot.)

At the council meeting, Mayor Reg Kotch had Marchiel swear the oath of office on a Bible, then the new councillor went from one end of the council table to the other shaking the hands of his new colleagues.

"I'm very excited and pleased about the election," said Marchiel after the meeting. "I was looking forward to tonight's meeting and now I'm looking forward to more."

Communications undertakings

Information received under the Access to Information Act

CCTV LTD. Decision CRTC 85-60. Barrhead, Drayton Valley, Drumheller, Edson, Stettler, Vegreville, Vermilion, Viking and Westlock, Alta. Pursuant to public notice CRTC 1984-200 dated 15 October 1984, the Commission approves the applications to add the carriage of the signals of WDIV (NBC) and WTVS (PBS) Detroit, Mich. on the broadcasting receiving undertakings serving the communities noted above. These signals will be received via satellite from the CANCOM network. In addition, the Commission approves the deletion of the carriage of the signal of CBXFT Edmonton on the Stettler undertaking and the colour bars and test patterns service on the Drumheller undertaking. Authority to delete, CBXFT, however, is only effective at such time as the licensee applies and is authorized for the carriage of an alternative French-language service. The Commission also approves amendments to the licences for these undertakings by increasing the maximum monthly subscriber fees as shown. These increases are justified based on the charges to be paid by the licensee to CANCOM for the new services and to cover the direct incremental costs related to the addition of the CANCOM signals. Accordingly, the fee increases may only be charged to subscribers at such time as the Detroit NBC and PBS signals are available to them.

The following list the location and Authorized Increase in Maximum Monthly Fee: Barrhead ($11.29 to $12.87), Drayton Valley ($14.13 to $15.75), Drumheller ($13.35 to $14.98), Edson ($14.18 to $15.80), Stettler ($10.42 to $11.78), Vegreville ($13.02 to $14.32), Vermilion ($13.02 to $14.32), Viking ($17.82 to $20.43), Westlock ($11.29 to $12.78).

Contest planned for carnival

A poster contest is being run in conjunction with the Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce winter carnival.

Schools in Drayton Valley and area will be contacted by poster committee chairman Norma Fraser.

The theme of the poster competition is "Let's Get Physical."

The deadline for entries is Feb. 22 with the judging to be completed within a week of that date.

One of the contest rules calls for Riggy,

Drayton Valley's official mascot, to be included in the poster theme.

First, second and third place awards will be presented in each grade category.

Children on ice

One hundred and fifteen children ranging from four to 20 years of age are scheduled to compete in the Drayton Valley Figure Skating Club's 30th annual ice show next month.

Two performances are scheduled for Saturday, March 9 at 1:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. The ice show will be a highlight of the Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce winter carnival.

The carnival queen candidates will make a guest appearance during the afternoon show in the Centennial Civic Arena with the winner to be announced at the evening show.

The theme for this year's ice show is "Go for Gold" — a tribute to our athletes. The line numbers will be representing different sports.

Solos will be performed by Guy Taylor, Susan McGregor, Ann-Margaret Baker, Tammy Thorsen, Tracy Kallis, Fatti-Jo Pankewich and Pam McDowell.

Nerves connect personal computer to body

By Dr. Bob Young

Entrapment neuropathy has a nice ring to it. Much better than merely complaining of a pinched nerve. By either name, it is a common problem. Our nerves connect our personal computer, the brain, to all parts of the body and, through the sense organs, to the outside world. The peripheral nerve bundles contain sensory and motor fibers. The former carry information to the brain while the latter convey the signals that result in muscle movement.

Study your sign for virtues

By Joanne Benger

Sometimes when folks can't get through to the psychic on the TV hotline they settle for second-best and call me. I am, of course, still studying and learning myself.

The usual general advice I give is this — Study the sun sign of the people around you so you will know how they think and feel. And study your own sun sign objectively so you will realize that to other signs, all your virtues may not be seen positively. With understanding and respect for differences, any two people can get along if they work at it.

We are in third quarter and the regal sign of Leo.

Be queen for the day. Get a haircut, have beauty treatments, and start a reducing diet.

Then give a formal party.

Feb. 7-8 will find us in the ultra-tidy and barren, cold, dry earth sign of Virgo. It's a time to tie up loose ends and a time to put your files and closets in order.

Stock up with health foods for yourself and your animals.

Write and mail letters that you have been putting off and sort through bills and receipts and put them in order. If you have verbal contracts and agreements, put them in writing and have them witnessed. A will could be written now so your heirs can settle your estate without a hassle.

Diet to lose weight. Start clearing land.

Feb. 9-10 will find us in the beautiful sign of Libra. This is the time to decorate for Valentine's Day. Make homemade valentines and hang up the streamers and cupid. Let your creativity loose and you can't go wrong.

If you aren't happy with your looks, have a beauty makeover and if your social life is a bit down, this is the time to reach out and join a new study group or a club. Throw a party and take the first step towards making new friends.

Land may still be cleared.

If you buy real estate now, you won't live in it for long, but you just might re-sell at a profit in time.

Feb. 11-12 will find us in the fruitful water sign of Scorpio and still with a reducing moon, moving from third to last quarter.

Suspicious surface and you have to be careful not to make false accusations.

Stock up with medicines for yourself and vet supplies for your animals.

If your machines and appliances are giving you trouble, have them repaired or replaced at this time.

Whose lucky week is it?

Beautiful Libra remains our luckiest gambler with the most fortunate birthdays falling between Oct. 8 and 17 until the 12th and between Oct. 18 and 23 the rest of the week.

When you speculate in co-operation with a partner, you Libra folks should always choose someone born under an air or fire sign — Aquarius, Aries, Gemini, Leo, Libra or Sagittarius. You don't work well with earth and water signs.

Your best marriage partner is an Aries.

Important days this week

Feb. 6 is St. Dorothy's Day. When she was going to be executed the judge's secretary said, "Send me some fruit and roses, Dorothy, when you get to Paradise." Soon after her death a young angel appeared with a basket of apples and roses and said, "From Dorothy in Paradise," then vanished.

The modern name 'Dorothy' means God's gift.

Seniors' housing aids permits

Building permits in the Village of Wildwood in 1984 were up substantially from 1983 largely due to the construction started on the Alberta Housing project for seniors.

Twelve building permits were issued during 1984 with a total value of $219,000 noted village secretary Gail Engley. The seniors' housing accounted for $140,000 of that total. In addition, one residential permit and three new trailer permits were taken in 1984. The balance of activity was for carports, decks, sheds, and garages.

Five permits were issued for demolition projects including three houses, a garage, and the corner store on mainstreet.

In 1983, 18 permits were issued with an estimated value of $90,000. The major project was the church in 1983.

Well planned office key to business success

A well-managed business rates a good office, and farming is no exception. A farm office is not a frill; a suitable place to record business transactions, store valuable papers, and make important decisions necessary for any modern farming operation.

Where is yours? If you're planning on building a new home soon, include an office in the blueprints. Remodelling? Plan one into your new additions. If no major changes are planned, look at your present space with an eye to claiming some of it for an office set-up.

Two of the most important considerations are convenience and availability. If your office is too hard to get at, you won't make good use of it. Look for a space as close as possible to an outside entrance (ie: back door).

Plan for good lighting, comfortable temperatures, enough desk-top space to hold all your records and papers without crowding, and a pleasant work space. Record keeping can be a hard enough chore for some people, without having to do it in dreary surroundings.

A good desk is essential in any office, providing both writing and storage space. A hollow door mounted on a couple of two-drawer filing cabinets may meet your needs, or at the other end of the price range are beautiful desks with L-shaped run offs for extra working space. Avoid facing the wall if you can. It is preferable to look out into the office or have a good view of the farmyard. Add a comfortable, sturdy chair with good back support. A chair on wheels is a good idea, so you can roll from your desk to filing cabinets or shelves without getting up.

Farm records are of little value if you can't find them quickly. Letter size filing cabinets will hold most of your bills and receipts conveniently. Look for filing cabinets that have good slides and rollers, so drawers will open easily. File folders come in many colors and separate files can be set up for each expense category.

Shelves to hold reference books, magazines and stationery are also a good addition to any office. A calendar, adding machine or calculator and record keeping books should be handy at all times. You may wish to add a small bulletin board and "in" and "out" filing trays to your office set-up. A phone, radio and possibly a CB radio are good office assets and should be within easy reach of your desk.

Local rental accommodation at a premium

By Frank Ryan

Renters looking for accommodation in Drayton Valley are in for a frustrating experience.

All six real estate agencies in Drayton Valley report considerable interest from people looking for a place to rent, with next to nothing on the market.

Many of the agencies have long waiting lists from interested renters.

Increased activity in the oil patch is one of the main reasons behind the recent interest in rental accommodation.

Natalie Gibson, sales representative with Century 21 Hi-Point Realty says, "There was a large vacancy rate three months ago, but now it's poor. The average family with two or three kids are the hardest to place because they're looking for a house with two or three bedrooms."

When it comes to renting, Gibson says houses, acreages within five miles of Drayton Valley and apartments are in demand.

"Many of our renters turn into buyers," Gibson added.

Tom Johnson, manager of Johnson Realty reports his agency has a waiting list.

"At the present time two apartment blocks and several homes that we handle are full. Most of those seeking rental accommodation are single or young couples," Johnson summed up.

Ron Sekura at Farmers and Ranchers says, "Rentals are hard to find. When we do come up with something to rent, it's gone before you know it. One day we advertised a house for rent and had 30 calls."

Bruce Scott, manager at Serenas & Associates says the demand is high with not much available.

"A 30 per cent vacancy rate was characteristic of Drayton Valley two years ago, but not today," he added.

Serenas & Associates receive, on the average, four calls a day for rentals ranging from homes, to mobile homes, apartments and basement suites.

On the subject of rent, Scott says, "People will pay $500 for almost anything, but they won't pay $700 or $750. Tops is around $650."

Kay Nichols of Nichols Realty Service says the rental situation here is all. Their office receives about a dozen calls a day.

She added, "It's frustrating for everyone — for the would-be renter and for the realtor — because we'd like to help."

Adrian Meier of Meier Real Estate says, "We get lots of calls from people looking for a place in the $300 to $500 per month range, but there's nothing available."

Meier says there's more of a trend to rent today opposed to buying because of the interest rates.

While many renters are looking for homes, mobile homes, apartments and basement suites others are searching for rooms or room and board. Some homes in Drayton Valley and area offer this service.

One landlady with four boarders says she does it because she likes to meet people. Room and board runs between $350 and $400 a month.

But, finding rooms or room and board in Drayton Valley hasn't been easy.

High demand, low supply in housing

By Carol Dietrich

Late 1984 and early 1985 have seen a substantial change in the housing situation in Drayton Valley and

For the most part, spokesmen for real estate agencies in Drayton Valley agree there is an increased demand and a shortage of accommodation.

"One year ago, 135 single family residences (including mobile homes) were on the market," said Bruce Scott, manager of Serenas and Associates Realty Ltd.

"Today there are only 65. That's a pretty extreme drop."

"With fewer homes available today than in 1980, the shortage of listings is critical," he added.

"The situation has changed considerably in the last 90 days," Scott said.

"People's attitudes have changed. They are working again."

"They can see a light at the end of the tunnel."

He cited reduced prices and first-time homebuyers as two other reasons for the trend. "Vendors realized they had to lower their prices and a lot of first homebuyers are buying."

"People who have been procrastinating realize the house they looked at may not be there tomorrow."

"And there is good activity in mobile homes too."

There is some movement in farm land and acreages, but the majority of action is in town, Scott said.

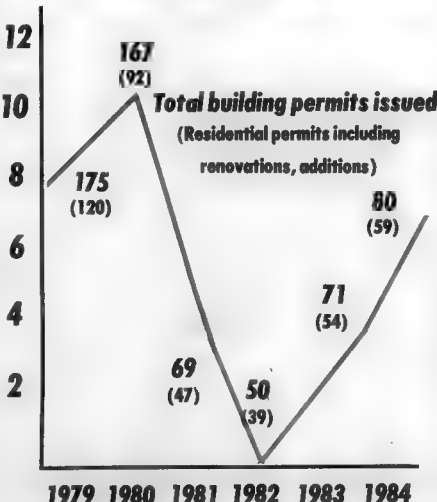

"Land prices have dropped and neighboring farmers are picking up land adjacent to theirs."

"Cattlemen from southern Alberta are looking for grazing land in this area, too."

Finding local housing can be a frustrating experience.

Local builders defy stats

Despite gloomy statistics for residential building starts throughout most of Alberta, Drayton Valley remains as a pocket of construction activity.

According to figures released in Canada Mortgage and Housing Corp.'s yearly report, 1984 housing starts were down more than 57 per cent in Alberta over 1983.

Last year, CMHC recorded barely 9,800 starts, down from 17,134 in 1983. Across Canada, housing starts were down about 30,000 units.

Drayton Valley, meanwhile, is among several areas defying provincial averages with an increase in home construction.

Last year, local builders had 22 starts and 19 completions, CMHC's housing analyst Laurie Scott said, up from 1983's 15 starts and 22 completions.

The increase continues a trend started in 1982 where builders had 18 starts and just two completions. Nine of those housing starts began in September of that year.

The only qualification in the report are "isolated pockets" that aren't having the same problems as other areas in the province, he said.

Scott said he had "no idea" as to why these areas are seeing an increase and others are not.

Areas also experiencing an increase in housing starts include communities with oil-related industries such as Fort McMurray, Grande Centre and Lloydminster.

The statistics echo what some local builders already know and who expect a better year in 1985.

Ted Little of Little and Associates Construction said Ed Tremblay of Laepon Developments agreed 1984 was "slightly" better than 1983 and based on increased activity in the local oil industry and less resale houses on the market, the trend should continue.

Rental interest an 'extra burden' — mayor

Mayor Bob Mayhew can't see going any further on the issue of paying interest on meter rentals.

Mayhew told Drayton Valley council last week, "It will create another half job, strain our staff, cause an extra burden and naturally, the mill rate will go up. I can't see going any further," he added.

Housing

The housing shortage applies to rentals as well.

"Motels and hotels are filling up.

"Apartments are the last (accommodations) to fill. For the first time since 1980-81 they are full," Scott added.

Lorne Pinkoski of Century 21 Hi-Point Realty Ltd. said the market is much more stable now. "Prices are holding, but presently there is a limited supply of houses."

"There is a steady demand and when a house is sold, it tends not to be replaced.

"It's not a seller's market yet, but it's not as strongly a buyer's market as it was," Pinkoski noted.

A limited number of acreages are available now, he said.

"There is continual interest in them and their availability is lessened.

"There is little change over of farms.

"Perhaps nearer to spring there will be more movement," Pinkoski added.

"The housing market is more active this year than last," said Tom Johnson, manager of Johnson Realty and Insurance Ltd.

"Prices are steady but there is not a shortage of homes.

"There is less demand for acreages and more demand for homes in town."

Adrian Meier of A. Meier Real Estate agrees that there is an increased demand for housing. "There seems to be less for sale signs and not much new construction.

"People are phoning about rentals more than they used to," Meier added.

"Acreages and farmland is not moving so fast and prices are down everywhere."

Ron Sekura, manager of Farmers and Ranchers Real Estate sees a real shortage of rental accommodations but said there are enough houses around for sale.

"We are selling quite a few lots and activity in the Drayton Valley area has picked up. There is a lot more interest.

"A lot of people realized that they may have to sell cheaper but that they could also buy cheaper," he said.

"The housing market has been very good in the past couple of months," said Kay Nichols, co-owner of NRS Nichols Realty Services Inc.

"New homes are selling well and a lot of new people are coming into town.

"Prices are still down," she added.

"But the rental situation is tight."

The matter was originally introduced at council's Jan. 10 meeting by Councillor Tom McGee. The mayor was absent.

McGee told the January meeting that he had contacted AGT and they were paying 7.5 per cent on telephone rental deposits.

He also said, "I realize the administration of this would be hard, but I support the ratepayers. If we have their money, we should be paying interest."

Municipal secretary Bob Dykes told the meeting that he had checked with the Department of Municipal Affairs and there was nothing in any of the acts defining payment.

Mayor Mayhew says, "It's like taking money from one hand and giving it to another."

While the mayor strongly objected to proceeding on the issue, Councillor McGee said the legal aspect should be checked.

Before the remarks ended, the mayor said, "The taxpayers are going to lose. I guarantee that. The money won't come out of heaven."

The town manager is expected to submit a report when council meets Feb. 21.

Circle Eights celebrate anniversary

Members of square dance clubs from Edmonton to Edson helped the Duffield Circle Eights celebrate their 25th anniversary at the Duffield Hall Jan. 28.

Eleven charter Circle Eights' members were among 120 dancers from 15 to 20 clubs who swung their partners and do-si-does to the calling of Ivan Sheppy.

In 1960 the Duffield Home and School Association delegated Evelyn and Delmer Schaefer to approach Sheppy about teaching square dance lessons in Duffield.

At the time, Sheppy was involved with clubs in Sangudo, Magnolia and Highvale. Nonetheless he agreed to teach in Duffield and has been the club's caller ever since.

Twelve squares (of eight dancers each) participated in the first lesson.

At the time more teenage boys than girls were interested in square dancing, Evelyn Schaefer says. As soon as Sheppy put on a record all the boys jumped onto the floor so they would be able to get a young girl rather than a married woman for a partner.

The Schaefers were the first presidents of the Duffield club and held the position for 13 years. Delmer says he wondered at times if being president was going to turn into a lifetime job.

After living a mile south of Duffield for 41 years the Schaefers moved to Spruce Grove. They still belong to and remain active in the Duffield club, however.

The Circle Eights now have four squares and 40 members. Fewer young people are active in the club but dances are still held the second and fourth Saturday of every month.

Beginners classes will be offered if eight people at a time are interested.

Bill Henderson and Chilliwack finished a "grassroots" tour here Jan. 28.

Chilliwack's survival geared to appeal

By Phil Courterelle

Ignore the media hype, the cliché-ridden press about Chilliwack being the country's most "enduring" band and the utterly boring tripe about being "too old to rock."

It's all nonsense.

With little doubt, Chilliwack's survival is geared to their musical appeal. From rhythmic blues tunes to guitar-led rock, the five-member band, including founder and lead vocalist Bill Henderson, is a strong hold in a world filled with either sterile-sounding pop tunes never intended for live audiences or leather-heavy instrumentalists banging out death and destruction to the same four chords.

Playing to a slow-moving but ultimately lively crowd at the Westwind Motor Inn Jan. 28, Chilliwack proved that age does have its advantages.

The only betrayal of Henderson's 40 years of age is a few, thin streaks of gray donning a crown of medium length black hair. Dressed in your basic cotton shirt and faded denims, Henderson and company flawlessly wound their way through some of Chilliwack's best-known hits such as 'Baby Blue', 'Lonesome Mary' — made even better by Henderson's slick opening guitar solo — and rockers like 'Communication Breakdown'. Even the new ones like 'Whatcha Gonna Do (When I'm Gone)' and 'Don't Stop' off the band's latest album Look In, Look Out, had bite.

The last show of a 27-show tour spanning smaller centres in British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan, the two-hour performance was one of several "grassroots" gigs the band has performed in the last few months.

Or, as Henderson described during Chilliwack's second set, the band is "getting back with the people and having a good time doing it."

The recent touring is also an attempt for Henderson to get the band back together after adding Claire Lawrence on saxophone and guitarist John Roles to the lineup. The two "new" members are actually old members returned: Lawrence is one of Chilliwack's charter members who started back in 1969 and Roles, most recently with Jerry Doucette, played on the 1976 album Lights from the Valley.

"For me personally, the whole purpose (of the tour) was to play in front of smaller audiences, up close, to feel what works and what doesn't. It's hard to do that with a larger audience," Henderson says.

"It's a grassroots thing; just to get the feel" of performing with the new members.

After the Drayton Valley performance, Henderson said Chilliwack will take "a couple of weeks off" before returning to the road, playing small theatres in British Columbia. From there, the group plans an Eastern Canada tour including Halifax and Toronto.

While the hype surrounding the "break-up" of Chilliwack more than two years ago — Brian 'Too Loud' McLeod left the band to pursue a more hard-rock approach with The Headpins — continues along with the "longest running Canadian band" stuff, Henderson keeps things in perspective.

"It's something for the writers to write about," he says of the media's now stale pursuit of that change.

"It's no big deal; it's just musical differences. It's just people doing what they want to do."

"What's important," he adds after the band's second encore, a replay of the first set's 'Lonesome Mary', "is the music."

And that particular insight is the key to Chilliwack's long-standing success.

They say that behind every great man there's a woman

But in this case it's ridiculous.

When rich, eccentric Edwin Curwater died, a crazy guru tried to transport her soul into the body of a beautiful young woman.

But the guru goofed. And Edwin's soul has accidentally taken over the entire right side of her lawyer, Roger Cobb. He still controls what's left.

Now, Edwin and Roger are living together in the same body.

He's losing his job. He's losing his girlfriend

And he just can't seem to get her out of his system.

No matter how hard he tries.

Penhold base facing an uncertain future

Base faces shutdown

The Canadian Forces Base at Penhold could be shut down if the federal government adopts a new warning system proposed by a senate defense committee. If the base, located just south of Red Deer is closed, 350 military personnel would be affected.

Spring start for jail

Construction on an $11 million remand centre for downtown Red Deer could begin this spring. Nothing is final as the provincial government has not made a decision on their capital budget plans.

Summer curling

The Sylvan Lake Curling Club plan to host three major bonspiels during the months of July and August.

Campus to open

The official opening of Athabasca University's new campus will be held Saturday, June 15 in conjunction with their 8th annual convocation. The university has more than 7,000 students, the majority who are working adults who study on a part-time basis in their own communities.

Around the Province

Towns to split $1.9 million

The towns of Fox Creek, Whitecourt and Mayerthorpe will receive $1.9 million from the province following the cancellation of a B.C. Forest Products pulp mill that was to be located in the area of the three centres. The $1.9 million represents most of the deposit the mill owners forfeited to the province by deciding not to construct the mill. The three towns invested about $6.5 million in the construction of roads, water and sewer facilities.

Problems at new school
School officials in Mayerthorpe are very upset with structural problems at the year-old Elmer Elson Elementary School. Inspections show a drop of 4.5 cm in the centre of three classrooms and an upheaval of the concrete in another room. Blocks are also cracking in the gym wall.

Citizen of the year

Wave Reynar, 68, has been selected as Leduc's citizen of the year. Mr. Reynar has been very active with the Leduc branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, the golf club and is a former minor sports coach.

Seniors, community association hold annual elections

By Hazel Winfield

The Wildwood senior citizens sponsored a games day with seniors from McKay, Seba Beach, Wildwood and Evansburg attending.

Jim Hall of Seba Beach won first in snooker, Knut Ahlskog won in men's cribbage, and Sarah Benesch was first in women's cribbage. One table of whist was played with Helen Skare placing first.

The Senior Citizens Club held their annual meeting on Wednesday in the centre. Films on the results of smoking to lungs and heart were shown by Shauna Cox. Cox also took blood pressures before the meeting.

The annual financial statement was passed out and discussed. Election of officers was held: Alice Laakvold, president; Hazel Winfield, vice-president; June Ite, treasurer; Edith Lynch, secretary.

At the potluck supper Betty Proehl was presented with a gift and birthday cake to help her celebrate her 80th birthday.

The seniors are having a Valentine luncheon and bake sale in the centre on Wednesday, Feb. 13 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The Senior Citizens Club have started carpet bowling. They meet every Monday at the centre at 2 p.m.

On Friday evening the Evansburg-Wildwood Pee Wees challenged their parents in a 6-5 game in favor of the parents. Ken Bamhaer (parent) got two assists. Dixie Bamber received a penalty when she tripped and a Pee Wee sat on her. A good time was had by both teams.

Alice Laakvold spent a few days visiting her daughter Edna and family in Edmonton.

Sympathy is extended to the Fred Machnuk family and the Dubina family on the death of Mrs. Martin Dubina.

The Elks sponsored a pancake breakfast for the basketball teams on Sunday morning after the tournament. Bonnyville teams left after the breakfast. Nearly 100 parents and players enjoyed the breakfast. The Wildwood teams emerged victorious.

Twenty rinks were entered in the men's bonspiel at the Wildwood Family Complex. In the 'A' event Bob Bauman of Hinton was first; first in the 'B' event was Murray Vance of Edmonton; and Neil Felt of Edson was first in the 'C' event.

David Hearty had the misfortune of losing his house and contents in a fire recently. He was not at home when the fire started.

Larry Reihl had the misfortune of breaking a leg. He is in the Drayton Valley hospital.

The Community Association held their annual meeting on Thursday evening. Minutes of the 1984 annual meeting were read. The financial report was passed around and discussed.

Officers elected were: president, Caroline Russell; vice-president, Nick Myschuk; secretary, Duna Sinchyna; treasurer, Pearl Benson.

Ambulance bylaw passed

Stony Plain town council has passed a bylaw giving the Parkland Ambulance Authority the exclusive right to provide ambulance service within town limits.

The bylaw, which was given all three readings

Application approved

A street assistance program application requested by the Town of Drayton Valley has been approved by Alberta Transportation.

Transportation committee chairman Howard Olsen informed council last Thursday that the town had applied for a grant for 50th avenue west reconstruction, however approval for this grant had not been received.

Olsen also stated that the transportation committee had been advised that if the 50th avenue project is approved by Alberta Transportation, it would be beneficial for the town to combine the two projects into one tender, thereby saving on costs.

Council gave their support to the staff to negotiate engineering fees with Delcan Consultants for the street assistance program and the 50th avenue west re-construction project.

at the Jan. 28 council meeting, gives the authority "the sole and exclusive privilege of providing ambulance service within the boundaries of the town."

The bylaw allows for two cases in which other ambulance services can operate in the town: transporting someone to or from the municipal hospital from or to a point outside the town; or at the specific request of the authority.

Stony Plain town manager Mark Betteridge advised council that the wording of the bylaw makes it applicable to Highway 16 within the town boundaries.

"This leaves it up to the town to decide if it wants to enforce the bylaw on the highway or not," he said.

Another provision in the new bylaw stipulates that the Parkland Ambulance Authority must maintain acceptable standards of ambulance service, including maintenance of vehicles, and qualifications of attendants and drivers.

"It is not our intention to move out any ambulance service now in existence," said Councillor Barrie Day, who pointed out that there are currently no other ambulance services operating within Stony Plain town limits.

"And if the growth of the town merited having another service, we could later review this bylaw."

The bylaw comes in effect immediately.

Goatbreeders hold meeting

Eleven goat enthusiasts attended the second meeting of the Northwest Chapter of the Alberta Goat Breeders Association at the home of Fred and Joan Ulderink on Jan. 14.

Marjory Boake of Rocky Rapids explained how members can join the Canadian Goat Society and membership application forms were distributed. Boake was the first person in this area to join CGS.

Concern has been expressed that there is nowhere to board goats in times of crisis. Boake has boarding facilities at present and Joyce Schadeck hopes to be able to board goats by spring.

An election of officers for 1986 was held: president, Mary Schmitt; vice-pres., Joan Ulderink; secretary-treasurer, Joanne Benger.

Residents enjoy Lions' supper

By Bernice Johnsen

The official opening of Wilson's Mountain View Store took place from Jan. 24-26. Prizes galore were given out during the three-day period.

The store is owned by Fred and Sharon Wilson and managed by Bonnie and Howard Dille.

Funeral services were held for the late George Potter on Jan. 21 at 11 a.m. at the Alder Flats Legion Hall with Rev. Canon Winchester of Weiskin officiating at the military service.

Potter was born May 9, 1903 and passed away Jan. 16, 1985 in the Rimby Auxiliary Hospital where he had been a resident for a few years.

After the war in the 40s he homesteaded in the Alder Flats area. He was a chartered member of the Alder Flats No. 287 Legion and in former years was very active in this organization.

He was predeceased by his wife Ada in January of 1982 and is survived by an only daughter, Anne Fontaine and her husband Mel and five grandchildren, five sisters and numerous nieces and nephews.

Twenty-two residents of the area enjoyed a roast beef supper put on by the Winfield Lions the evening of Jan. 24 for the senior citizens of the surrounding area. Geneva Patton chauffeured a bus load in the Lions' bus and some drove in their own vehicles.

There were 19 rinks competing for prizes in the men'sspiel ending Jan. 20. First event was won by Ross Larson, second event by Gene Seely and third event winner was the Brad Virginello rink.

The Mighty Mites had a home game against Warburg on Jan. 19, losing the game 9-3. Chad Kelgren scored two goals and Trent Bohning, one. Ivy Seely, Connie Maclean, Carol Nestegard and Betty Warchler placed third in the third event in the Warburg bonspiel which ended Jan. 20.

Lars Larson spent from Jan. 21 to 25 to Banff at a seminar and was a delegate for the UFA.

Police seek identity of two

Crime Stoppers are seeking the public's assistance in locating and identifying the following two persons:

The male person is described as approximately 55 years of age, 5'9", 175-180 lbs., with greyish black hair, wearing a tan cord or leather jacket (badly worn), blue jeans, and a wool checkered hat.

The female is described as approx. 45 years of age, 5'2", 115 lbs., dirty blonde hair, brown eyes, wearing a tan down-filled jacket (hip length) and brown fortrel pants.

These two persons are believed to have been in the Derrick Mall and Block's Food Store on Nov. 30, 1984 between 10 a.m. and 12 noon in Drayton Valley, Alta.

ON TRIAL — "There are no good guys or villains," says Abby Mann of "The Atlanta Child Murders," the five-hour movie that he wrote. The story is about the judicial process. The movie airs Sunday, Feb. 10 and Tuesday, Feb. 12 on CBS. It recreates the trial of Wayne Williams, played by Calvin Levels, for the murder of two adults following a pattern of child killings in Atlanta's black community from 1975 to 1981.

"The key piece of evidence was a piece of fiber," Mann says. The prosecution hinged literally on a thread of fiber. It was being used as an unscientific tool of evidence. They say one day fiber will replace fingerprints as evidence. That would be a mistake. That's one reason I did this film, because if it happens, we are all in trouble."

Calvin Levels

NEW FORMAT — Jack Palance, host of ABC's "Ripley's Believe It or Not," hopes to revise the show's format next year. He wants to do longer pieces, as well as some historical re-creations, in which he will play a character. With the show's full season of 22 segments completed, Palance is relaxing on his farm in Dums, Pa. Palance's daughter, Holly Palance, also hosts the series.
